One thing every person in America has in common is the over-exposure to heavy metals in our environment. They unknowingly wreak havoc on our health, leading to problems with everything from our eyes to our hearts. The most effective way to treat this heavy metal poisoning is through a natural process referred to as Chelation Therapy. Those interested in learning about this important treatment will have the option to attend the Chelation Therapy Conference at the Dolphin Beach Resort in the Tampa, Fla. area, on April 17-19, 2015.

“This conference is going to be a celebration of my new book titled Chelation and Other Detox Methods to Save Your Life on the therapy and provide everything people need to know about Chelation Therapy,” explains Dr.

Edward Kondrot, founder of the Healing The Eye & Wellness Center. He is also the immediate past president of the Arizona Homeopathic and Integrative Medical Association, and the clinic director of Integrative Medicine of the American Medical College of Homeopathy. "This conference is open to the public and is ideal for patients, medical professionals, and those who would like to exhibit."

Heavy metal poisoning affects many people around the country. What most people do not realize is that it can be cured. The build-up of mercury and other toxins can be removed from our bodies, bones, and brains through Chelation Therapy. This treatment was first introduced in the country in the 1950s, and became more popular following a 2012 federally funded large scale study demonstrated its effectiveness. The therapy provides widespread health benefits, including helping the eyes and reducing mortality in heart attack patients.

The toxic poisons in the body need immediate action in order to avoid health problems, including those causing aches, pains, and deterioration. Those who have the Chelation Therapy find an improved quality of life, as well as an improvement in health. The toxins that are compounding in humans come from such sources as sewage, cadmium, pesticides, fertilizers, mercury, and others, all of which are found in the Tampa Bay, and beyond. The heavy metals have also been linked to Alzheimer's and Parkinson's Diseases.

"The information about Chelation Therapy is not to be missed," adds Dr. Kondrot. "Not only can it help you become healthier and avoid problems, but it's good information for your patients, too. This is a treatment that everyone in the area can benefit from."
